

The Wisconsin no-call list is a great benefit to me and my family. The number of telephone solicitations have been almost entirely eliminated and removed a great annoyance from our lives. Federal restrictions on our state law that would provide more access to telephone solicitors is a bad idea. Although it may be in the best interests of certain businesses, it is not in the best interests of my family and all of the other families that choose to be on the list.